

my birthday party

i had been looking forward to my birthday party for weeks mum had bought all this great food, and my best friends were coming when they arrived my dad did some silly games and told some stupid jokes we ran around in the garden for a bit until we got hungry we went in and stuffed ourselves on all the food suddenly mum walked in with a huge birthday cake we sang happy birthday and i blew my candles out when i opened my eyes dad said there was a surprise outside we all rushed out and there was a clown called bubbles on the patio he did some magic tricks and made some balloon animals after that my friends went home
